Charity house sale to aid Legacy

Continuing the Dennis family's ongoing support of Legacy, a third Dennis Family Homes charity house project has commenced at the Manor Lakes estate at Wyndham Vale in Melbourne's west.

Presently under construction, the new family home will be sold privately as a house and land package when completed, with the profits from the sale of the house to be donated to Legacy.

The first Legacy charity house was also constructed by Dennis Family Homes at the Manor Lakes estate in 2006, followed by a second home at Bendigo one year later. Together these highly successful previous projects raised almost $85,000 in support of Legacy.

Dennis family patriarch, Mr Bert Dennis, announced the latest charity house initiative at the Legacy at Huntingdale Charity Golf Day event on 21 January.

Mr Dennis said that his company was proud to continue its close working association with Legacy, a uniquely Australian organisation established in 1923 dedicated to the welfare of widows and dependants of war veterans.

"Legacy provided wonderful assistance to my own family during my youth and remains close to my heart to this day," he explained.

"It is our hope that this year's charity house project will once again generate significant funds to aid Legacy in its ongoing welfare work for the families of deceased veterans," he added.

Mr Chris Spence, Melbourne Legacy President, welcomed the announcement of the generous donation from Dennis Family Homes.

"We are delighted to receive confirmation of such a magnificent donation," Mr Spence said.

"It is exciting news and a truly good news story of a former Junior Legatee demonstrating his appreciation for past Legacy support. This most generous initiative of Dennis Family Homes will provide much needed funds to support Legacy's caring work into the future."

The house chosen by Dennis Family Homes for the project is the Edgewood 221, a brand new design for 2011 which is featured in its Aspirations series.

Amongst its many features, the double-storey home includes three bedrooms, two bathrooms, study and garage. As with all Dennis Family Homes designs, the Edgewood 221 is luxuriously appointed and expertly constructed with quality and excellence.

Mr Dennis said that construction work on the house at Lot 2052 Holloway Street in Wyndham Vale is scheduled for completion in April and the subsequent purchasers will be able to move straight in to their new home on the Manor Lakes estate.

“We feel this charitable initiative is a most positive way to actively demonstrate our ongoing support for Legacy and at the same time it will provide a fabulous new home for a fortunate family in the coming months,” he commented.
